In response to the worldwide outbreak of the Coronavirus (COVID-19), MB Distributing has taken steps to maintain business continuity while protecting the health and well-being of our employees, customers and suppliers.

The states of Ohio and West Virginia have issued shelter-in-place orders for non-essential services. At the present time, our understanding is that MB Distributing does not fall in this category.

MB Distributing is accepting, entering, acknowledging and shipping orders. We are working with our vendors to stay up-to-date on production and delivery times.

We have minimized the staff working out of our office and only employees considered essential to our operation are physically present with remaining staff working from home. All employees that are present are maintaining the appropriate hygiene and social distancing standards as recommended by the CDC.

Our first priority is to protect the safety of our most valuable resource, our employees! We continue to monitor government and public health organization communications and will adjust guidelines accordingly.
